Pendulum bifurcations for symmetric periodic orbits. The possible steady-state solutions of the G.I.S. model and of the second-order model for the climate of the Northern Hemisphere, subject to solar forcing, are investigated. These models are equivalent in the sense that by a succession of bifurcations the first model is reduced to the second model. A bifurcation analysis is performed. In two cases the branch of steady states induced by the supercritical Hopf bifurcation is transverse and the solution curves are aperiodic. A Word About China's Local Currency Exchange - aaronbreth
