I've had in the works for 5 years. This has been an epic project, made possible by my lovely wife, who has stuck with me through every failed iteration of this game. I'm honored to have her on board, and that I can call this a successful project. The story so far: So, as the game begins, the player character, Flappy, has just arrived on a beach town. He tries to fly through the air, but gets sucked into a hole and is captured by a harem. The harem explains that Flappy has to find the unknown party that controls the end-of-the-world clock bomb. Flappy's only hope to beat them is if he can somehow escape the hole in the ground. He can't fly as high as he'd like, but there are lots of obstacles and pitfalls for him to go through. He must gather magic shards and make his way through the treacherous lands where he'll face deadly enemies and the clock bomb. The video from the game (part of a planned trilogy) will be live on Friday on my YouTube page: As you can see, the development of the game started 3 years ago and it's now finally become a fun

s-Data-Bank``-tbd-tbd``-02-tBD-TRACK-MEM-HISTORY-01-2017-edited`, specifically the date was added and the three letters (`-02-`) and the tbd were removed. This is what we have been working on here, and this is why I suggest we add the date to the string that we cut off from the description. Can you please replace your query with the following? We will add the date to the string, we will add back the letters that we have removed and we will reduce the number of characters in the `description` field from 4 to 1 (as it should be)? So, your query would look like this: You can see that the date comes first, then there are 2 spaces and then it continues. And note again where it says we just cut off 4 characters from the beginning. Add this to the query that we just ran. ``UPDATE Datasets, Members SET Datasets.description = Replace(Datasets.description, ^tbd-, $1-02-TBD) WHERE Datasets.descriptions = 'TDs-Data-Bank``-tbd-tbd``-02-TDsDataBank - TRACK-MEM-HISTORY-01-2017-edited' AND Members.member_id = Datasets.member_id;``-tbd-02-TDsDataBank - TRACK-MEM-HISTORY-01-2017-edited` For some reason we can't use and update at the same time. I can run this update on one table then when I go to another table I get this error message. I know you can't do this at the same time but is there a way you can help me out with this? { ERROR [HY000] [MySQL][ODBC 3.51 Driver][mysqld-5.6.34-log]Unable to read dir of '/usr/lib64/libjcral-0.1.so.1' (Errcode: 2). You play as Pip, a small, angry girl. You are angry, angry, angry. And you want to travel down the corridor, to the place where you're innocent and safe from the outside world. You will keep on losing your innocence and you will eventually unravel the mystery of the corridor. You are starting from the beginning with Pip. Without any experience you are laying the foundation of your life. You should decide when to change the name of Pip, to Kitty, to Trixie, to Diana, to Rose, to Zorach. You can create your own adventure with your name and your style. Just make sure to make a nice one. But wait, the corridor is not just any old corridor, it is a run-down and forgotten corridor. The closed, rusty doors are guarding the secrets that you never want to know. The game is based on traditional "Pick The Baby Out Of The Jars" and puzzles, of which you are expected to solve them all, without hesitation and without moving your fingers. Of course, you can move your fingers, it is not necessary. You will go on trying to find the exit, to the place where you're safe. But there is a creepy dark spot lurking in the middle of the corridor, a big, black, boiling machine, with an evil face. It will be hard. It will be harder than you thought. You'll have to trust no one. No adults, no parents. Just yourself. And the maze behind you will not let you down. You can change the length of the maze, to help you in hiding behind the corners. The only way out of the maze is to complete the maze. You can feel like the maze is never the maze, that you're going around in circles, but you are right. You are not going in circles at all. You are going through the maze. But you'll end up in the exit. You are Pip, a girl from the forgotten corridor. You are strong and you are lonely. Your only friend is the maze.
